2023 Calendar Now Available!

Hot off the presses, it's our 17th calendar, available now for purchase. In this year's theme, Early Schools, you get a glimpse of the multiple school buildings serving students in Fall City. Growth in population was rapid, so many times these buildings were quickly outgrown, and new buildings needed, others re-purposed. You will also get to meet a few of the early teachers, and learn when Fall City had it's own high school. Do you know which school was first to have electrical power? And what buildings are still in use today?

There are multiple ways to receive your calendar. You can find them at Farmhouse Market and Lucky Duck Thrift Store, as well as the Holiday Market on Dec 3, or by appointment at the FCHS Office located within the United Methodist Church. For online orders, please visit our website listed above. We hope you enjoy!

Thank you to our donors for your generous support!

We greatly appreciate our supporters during our annual Fall Fundraising Campaign, enabling our volunteer organization to continue to preserve and share Fall City history.

Let's Talk Turkeys

Ah, wintertime, and the annual traditions of family gatherings and feasts. Centered in many of our memories is the turkey; roasted, smoked, and probably covered in gravy. For some Fall City families, their memories also include the raising of these turkeys from poults to adulthood. As Jack McClymont shared, he would order 1,000 day-old poults in the Spring, and then had to teach each one of them how to eat as they had not had a chance to learn from older birds. In 1942, Jack had purchased a property on the corner of 324th SE and SE Redmond-Fall City Rd, and included turkeys in his farm business for 3-4 years. As each holiday season approached, he would take time off from his job with Snoqualmie Falls Generating Station in order to manage the huge undertaking of butchering and cleaning the birds, assisted by hiring local crews.

An amusing anecdote shared by Jim Hoover is his dad racing outside late one night in his nightshirt to thwart his turkeys from being taken. A friend shared with him many years later, they had put the birds in their attic, and hoped they were quiet when his Dad came over.

Thank You Fall City Cemetery Association

A big thank you to Tom Burnside and Ron Johnson for helping with our Cemetery Wine Walk event in July. You went above and beyond, and your help at our event is appreciated. Our community is indebted to you for your year-round care of the cemetery, and the effects of the weather, seasons and wildlife!

The Fall City Cemetery Association is a local nonprofit. If you would like to support the care and maintenance of the cemetery, you can make a donation by mailing it to:
